Daniel is an aspiring artist and is in school to become an art teacher. He often has many projects sprawled around his apartment and keeping track of when each needs to be completed is nearly impossible.

One morning, he received an email from one of his profs reminding him of an assignment that was due today. Daniel began frantically searching for the assignment so he could finish it before class.

Finally, Daniel found his assignment in the mess and finished it haphazardly. He then vowed to get his academics organized from this day on.

After class, he searched online for apps that could help get him organized. He knew a paper planner would just get lost in the mess.

Daniel found a neat looking academic planner that connects to his school's blackboard, where all his assignments are buried for each class. With the planner, he'll be able to select which specific assignments to add to his planner.

Since Daniel started using the Academic Planner App, he can effectively keep tabs on all his assignments and now has more free time for personal projects! Yay!

Grace was happily walking down the street when she gasped. Grace is freaking out right now because she realized she forgot to do assignments from 2 of her classes. She is so tired of stressing and this kind of emotional rollercoaster.

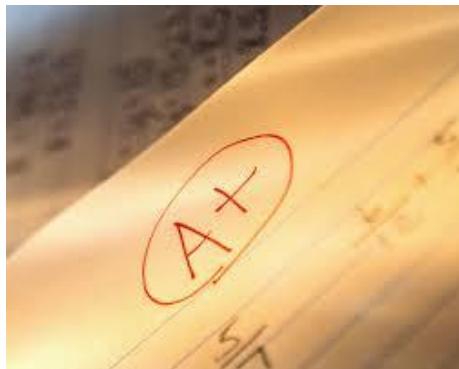

This dragged her grade down in both of her classes. Grace feels super overwhelmed because she has been so busy with classes and activities that she could not keep up. She locked herself in her room last weekend just to study and do assignments. She didn't even have time to see her friends.

Grace downloads our calendar app. She sees that the app is made specifically for students like her who go to UofSC. It synched with her classes AND extracurricular activities like her clubs, student organization, even events.

Month:

Grace can add tasks and delete tasks. She can prioritize tasks based on importance. She can check off completed tasks. She even can change the layout to match her style! She can have a calendar view or a list view to show everything she needs to complete this day, this week, etc.

After a week, Grace began to see a change! She completed all her assignments on time and got great grades. She did not miss anything important events, even though this was her busiest week yet! This is because her calendar app reminded her of everything she needed to do. She received reminders days before, not just last minute.

Grace had time to relax on the weekend! She even got to see her friends and party! Thanks to her calendar app, she boosted her grade in her classes, attended all her events, and have time to enjoy her life!

Emersyn White is a second year medical student that finds himself forgetting about exams and due dates. He needs a way to be able to plan out his weekly schedule.

Emersyn attends his Anatomy class only to find out he had a quiz that day that he had completely forgot about. Since he was unable to study, he failed the quiz.

After failing the quiz, Emersyn looks for an app that can help him be better prepared. He finds an academic planner app for his school that can integrate with Blackboard, allowing him to set reminders for assignments and assessments.

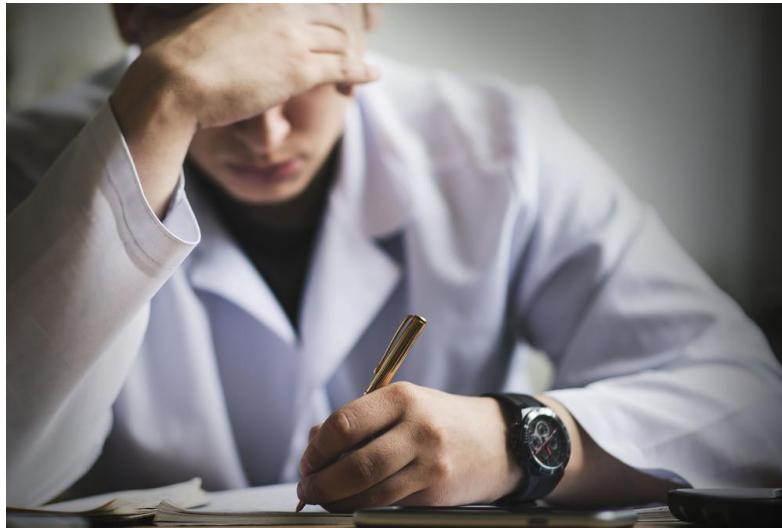

Emersyn can use the app to set reminders for selected exams, and how often the app will remind him about the exam.

Emersyn, using the new academic planner, is able to be more organized and has more time to focus on extracurriculars such as his laboratory research.

Emersyn is able to properly set aside time for study sessions for his classes and is up to date with his classes due to his new academic planner.
